FIRST AMALGAMATED CHURCH

Religion is like Internet Explorer

- You either use it because:
- *You're not smart enough to change it
- *You're afraid to download anything new
- *It was there when you started

This page was generated during an online performative work session between the authors. In a relay race modality, each author had 15' to add contents to the page, while surfing, grabbing and scraping the internet. Then he passed .indd file to the other, and so on for a total amount of 120', 2 hours. The first aim was to explore the possible interceptions between internet and religion.
